

Task 4:

Answer 1: When the memory access crosses the page boundaries, according to different page replacement algorithm, the memory address will enter into different pages.

Answer 2: The simulator should

(1) processes should have their own memory space.

(2) and the cpu should has specific register to store path of the process page directory.